

Physics 8 lab report deadlines and grading
Fall 2008

First draft: due in class Friday, November 7

Commented drafts will be returned to you in class Monday, November 24

Revised version: due in class Monday, December 8

Both versions of the report will be graded on a scale based on the system used to referee scientific papers:

Accept as is, no revision necessary	100%
Accept as is, minor revisions suggested	90%
Resubmission required for acceptance, revision needed	80%
Resubmission required for acceptance, major revision needed	70%
Reject	0% - 60%

(at discretion of instructor)

Reports that are missing sections or written in outline form will be rejected.

As long as your first draft receives a grade of at least “resubmission required” (70%), you may turn in a revised version. If you resubmit your report, only your grade on the resubmitted version will be used to determine your final grade. Alternatively, you may choose to have your grade on the first draft serve as your grade for the lab report, in which case you do not have to turn in a final draft.
